One Minute Notices :

-Andrew has been corresponding with Mitre 10 Mega with regard to our trailer raffle and has received a favourable response. We are sorting out costs and have booked in Boxing Day and the following day for the BBQ. Watch this space for updates.

-AK Franks are open for application, all online now

-Peter B is looking into the Constitution and incorporation with Jim Kilpatrick. Seems to be in a bit of a mess but is being sorted.

-We are manning the Blood Pressure table on 4 Oct at New World. St Johns people will be on hand, Let Gail know if you can help.

Guest Speaker – Gwen Needham – Motivation and Empowerment

The Young Adult Power Project (YAPP) Mission Statement.

"To empower New Zealand's young adults with universal human knowledge plus practical lifeskills so they can -

- * Contribute positively to the economy and the community.
- * Understand and deal with the causes of social dysfunction.
- * Be good future leaders / parents.
- * Become valuable world citizens.

YAPP changes lives and behaviours by 'mind-power'.

Many don't know they can succeed because of the false ideas in their minds!

YAPP replaces the false ideas (rubbish) and plants seeds of wisdom, success, common sense, power, potential, pride, purpose, process, prevention, priorities, philosophy.

YAPP Key Components are -

YAPP has a flagship book - Dear Young Adult New Zealanders.

YAPP workshops lead to self-confidence and success.

YAPP will train future leaders and teachers of the YAPP success strategies.

Gwen has written a book called 'Dear Young Adult New Zealanders'

Some book reviews:-

Al Kirk, BA DipSM, Principal Whangarei Boys High School.

“An outstanding quality resource for all senior schools and tertiary providers - a treasure trove of success strategies, real stories, philosophy, challenges, goal setting, Maori proverbs, poetry, and more. Always interesting, relevant to now. All NZ’ers urgently need the culture change gently but strongly laid out in this enterprise – The Young Adult’s Power Project.”

Morris Cutforth, Mayor of Whangarei City.

“This fascinating, exceptional, and delightful book is packed with good things – and not only for the young! Every family and every coffee table needs one. It should be incorporated into every tertiary training scheme. It will not only help our youths be better employees, but will make for better families, communities and nation.”

Craig Cooper, Editor, Northland Advocate.

“This book teaches us to know and value our roots and heritage, and learn basic Maori protocols. It encompasses excellent wholistic inter-cultural wisdom in a youth-friendly way. I want it to reach a wide audience.”

Gwen hold workshops

(each are 8 - 10 hours) – ideally, all 4 to be achieved in one year.

1. Know Yourself – Take charge; Grow up. Roots, identity, beliefs, attitude.
2. New Zealand’s culture and social scenes. Pitfalls. Solutions. Goals.
3. Earn and Learn – About Money. About Life – Yours! Goals.
4. Happy Relationships. Choosing Success. Goals
